2021 Catalyst Open Source Scholarships

Catalyst offers an Open Source Scholarship to two recipients each year, with preference given to those who have previously taken part in the Open Source Academy (<https://www.catalyst.net.nz/open-source-academy>). Applications are invited from students who intend to study computer science or related subjects.

The scholarship consists of a $2000 payment in March for each of the three years of study and must be used for study related costs.
